

Service Center for Professional Recognition

Service Center for Professional Recognition / Zentrale Servicestelle Berufsanerkennung (ZSBA)

- The Service Center for Professional Recognition (ZSBA) was established in the context of implementation of the new immigration act for skilled workers in Germany.
- It is affiliated to the German Central Placement Office (ZAV) of the Federal Agency of Employment and based in Bonn.
- It addresses skilled workers and professionals living abroad that intend to apply for professional recognition in Germany.

Goals to achieve

- To function as a central contact point for counselling and accompany applicants during the whole professional recognition procedure.
- To relieve competent German authorities in the field of professional recognition from their counselling duties.
- To shape the professional recognition procedure more transparent and efficient for applicants.

Our tasks

- Offering counselling during the professional recognition procedure.
- Clarify with the applicants which German federal state is preferable for applying for professional recognition.
- Supporting applicants by going over the required documentation for professional recognition.
- Counselling on residence permit issues related to professional recognition.
